

Hypnagogic Art

Film: "...not if you ask me!..." We see a vast field of wheat. On the horizon are two or three small black shapes which we recognize as farm buildings. The scene is virtually an abstract painting; the top third blue sky, the lower two-thirds golden wheat, and then the black shapes on the border between the two. But now, from behind the camera, we hear the echoing sounds of an auto shop: the casual chatter of men at work, a hammer banging on metal, a tire rotating down to the floor. The title is among the words we hear spoken.
